Twenty-five members of the Dodge Light Guards, called out late at night to protect the negroes Zimmerman and Burke, who were in the county jail in Council Bluffs, Iowa, charged with attacking two women Christmas night, remained at the prison all night to prevent any further demonstration by the members of the mob that had made an unsuccessful attempt to lynch them. Two of the leaders were arrested and placed in a cell near the frightened negroes. Small groups of the would-be lynchers stood on street corners near the jail until daylight discussing the affair, but no further attempt was made to do violence to the prisoners. Zimmerman and Burke are charged with holding up and robbing Mrs. Mary Sparks and her daughter, Mrs. Sanders, Christmas night, and then attacking the women. Screams of the women attracted the attention of neighbors, who came to their assistance, the negroes making their escape. The men were captured at their home Sunday near the scene of the crime and both were identified by Mrs. Sparks and her daughter.

According to Coroner Charles Lester the death of Mrs. Mary Gibbs, who expired suddenly in Kansas City within a few hours after her arrest on a charge of swindling nearly every bank in town by means of forged drafts, was due to congestion of the lungs brought about by the shame and disgrace following her arrest and arraignment. Mrs. Gibbs died after an illness of less than three hours, at the home of her grandfather, George Holmes, former city assessor and one of the oldest and best-known residents of Kansas City. Mrs. Gibbs was only 21 years old, but had been twice married. The act for which she was arrested and to which she confessed, was the forgery of a draft for $520 on a Chicago bank. She cashed it at the Missouri Savings Bank after forging also the cashier's "O. K." It has been discovered by the police that she had by the forged "O. K." method secured $100 from the National Bank of Commerce, $500 from another national bank, $500 from another and smaller sums from other institutions.

CRAFT SINKS IN A FOG.

Steamer Erastus Corning Runs on Rocks Off Norwalk, Conn.

In a thick fog the steamer Erastus Corning of the Star Line, bound from New Haven for New York with thirty passengers and a heavy cargo of freight, struck on the rocks of Cogg's Island, just outside Norwalk harbor, Conn. A hole two feet square was stove in the side of the steamer and within five minutes she sunk in fifteen feet of water. The shock of the collision and the cries of the crew aroused the passengers, who rushed on deck in a panic. Most of them were thinly clad. During the confusion six of the passengers cleared away in a small boat and left the steamer, and up to the present time have not been heard from. Aside from the missing party, all the passengers and crew reached South Norwalk safely on board a tug and the passengers soon left by train for New York. Some of them had no outer wraps and all were without baggage.

When the other officers of the law failed to arrest one man Egan was taken out of the jail and made the arrest himself. As soon as he was at liberty he returned to his work as constable in East Youngstown.

South Dakota and Iowa Produce Much Less Than Formerly.

Reports of the dairy commissioners of Iowa and South Dakota, two of the most important dairying States, recently made public, showing that the butter output of both is shrinking at a rate that cannot but alarm people who are prejudiced against oleomargarine. In South Dakota the number of creameries decreased from 153 to 130. In Iowa it has been reduced in the last five years by about 150 creameries. The output of butter has not shrunk in so large a proportion in either State, but it is smaller in both. Decreases in output for pasture, as land becomes too valuable, have caused the change.

Jilted Missouri Man Follows Murderer with effort at suicide. Jealous because his brother's widow, Mrs. Florence Lee, intended to marry another man, Samuel W. Lee, aged 39, shot and killed the woman in her room in Holmes street, Kansas City, and then tried to end his own life. Soon after his brother died a year ago Lee became attentive to Mrs. Lee and repeatedly urged her to marry him. Finally he intercepted a letter to her from a man whom she admitted she intended to marry and then a quarrel ensued. After vainly trying to persuade her to marry him, Lee fired twice at her. Both bullets entered Mrs. Lee's breast, but she reached the door and tried to escape. Lee pursued and fired twice more at the fleeing woman, who fell dead on the stairway. Lee fired three bullets into his breast and was trying to locate his heart for a third shot when neighbors broke into the room. Escaping from a rear door, Lee fled down an alley. Before he was captured and overpowered he cut his throat with a knife, inflicting a fatal hurt. Mrs. Lee was about 39 years of age and a seamstress. She had two small children. Lee is said to have a wife in Kansas and a daughter at Liberty, Mo.

START NEW TONTO BASIN WAR.

Two Sheep Herders Killed in Reprisal for Murder of Cattleman.

Another Tonto Basin war appears to be breaking out between the cattlemen of that region of Arizona and the sheepmen, who are yearly invading the range with thousands of sheep. The sheepmen claim to be passing through the basin on their way to the winter range on the plains near Phoenix, but their pathway is spreading, and the winter cattle ranges are being eaten out. Last year a Mexican sheep herder murdered Eugene Packard, a prominent cattleman, and a few days ago cowboys killed two sheepmen in reprisal. The victims were a young man named Berry, in charge of his father's band of several thousand sheep, and Mexican lad, his only witness. The authorities at Payson believe they have established the identity of the murderers, and two deputies have gone to Pleasant Valley after them.
